

Jordan Health and Wellness empowers individuals to build, heal, and enhance their social and emotional wellness

Priority One: Empower individuals to enhance social and emotional wellness for themselves and others through evidence-based interventions and training

- Increase access to quality social and emotional learning (SEL) resources
- Provide support and tools for SEL implementation (i.e. Second Step, Zones of Regulation, etc.)
- Amplify Districtwide suicide prevention (QPR, YMHFA) and bullying prevention efforts
- Provide training for The Good Behavior Game, an evidence-based classroom management tool
- Enhance educator wellness through evidence-based interventions
- Spread wellness knowledge for parents and communities through “Wellness Wednesdays,” newsletters, online resources, and Every Day Strong Resilience training

Priority Two: Increase student and family access to quality mental health services both in school and in the community

- Provide responsive mental and behavioral health services to students and families through Clinical Support Specialists and SEL & Behavior Team
- Facilitate access to community mental health providers with the Mental Health Access Program
- Provide responsive crisis management and support to schools
- Improve access to mental health services through mental health screenings
- Collaborate with essential community partners (NAMI, AFSP, and community coalitions)
- Support SafeUT implementation and response for school personnel
